

Our members talk about St-Joseph's Aids Action Group (SAAG)

Tell us about yourself

I am Eshete Fasil Kebede from Ethiopia. I belong to the Comboni Missionaries, I live in Pietermaritzburg. I am doing my third year in Theology (BTh III).

How did you decide to join the St Joseph's Aids Action Group (SAAG)?

When I came to this Institute, I saw the realizations and the dedication of this group and I became interested.

What do you think about SAAG's accomplishments after 8 years of creation?

The accomplishments could be at first, its endurance and strength to be there until now. The second could be the successful interaction and presence in the mind and the heart of the youth.

How did you participate personally in the ministry of SAAG?

I participate in workshops, most of times as a facilitator. I am now a member of the executive committee (Vice Chairperson).

Do you have any personal message to give to our target youth or to the rest of the members of SAAG?

“Keep going. Never lose hope and faith in what you plan and do.”

Any other (general) message you would like to give:

“People of the same father (God), mother (Mary) and Christ, come with courage; let us give the best to the demands of the world. We can bring change if we are united.”

Thank you very much for sharing with us and for your remarkable dedication to our ministry!
